TIMBER DECKING

Our timber decking has been pressure treated to protect against rot and decay for longer life. It is 32mm x 125mm planed to finish 28mm x 120mm. The decking is all slow growing North European Redwood. All of our decking is produced from sustainable timber and is FSC certified. We supply in 3m-5.4m lengths subject to stock. It is grooved on both sides to minimise cupping or bowing. However, timber is a natural product and is subject to continual movement when exposed to atmospheric conditions. This may be evident with splits, shakes or warping. These are not considered to be a fault of defect. It is a good idea to order some extra boards to allow for waste.

Wood or timber decking can be used in a number of ways, as part of garden landscaping, to extend living areas of houses, and as an alternative to patios. A square or rectangular decking pattern is an ideal project for the competent DIY'er or you may want to try more complex structures. Add balustrades or a pergola to complete the look.
